Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Tuesday 21 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Outbreaks of rain on Wednesday . Windy.

This Evening and Tonight:
A dry night in most places with the best of the clear spells in the east. Rain over northwest Scotland and Northern Isles becoming persistent and heavy later, accompanied by southwesterly gales.

Wednesday:
Dry, bright morning over south and east Scotland. Rain in Northwest, heavier for a short time, edging southeastwards, fizzling out in south during evening. Drier, brighter, less windy weather following.

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
North and West Scotland mostly cloudy with rain at times. South and East will be drier and brighter. Northwesterly gales in north at first on Thursday, possibly severe over Shetland.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.